What does an official do?

An Official's License allows you to be a critical part of cycling events. You become a part of the event management that allows all of USA Cycling's members to pursue their passion of racing, fairly and safely. It can be fun and very rewarding! As a USAC Official, you'll learn to assist with the sporting and safety management of road races, criteriums, time trials, cyclocross, track and mountain bike races. There are many roles an official can take including referee, judge or motoref and it all starts with an officials clinic.

What kind of commitment does it require?

After you successfully complete the online or in-person exam, the USOC's SafeSport training and a background check, you will receive a level C officials license. Officiate as many events as you like.... a couple of times a season or every weekend. You decide how many events you'd like to attend. Need more info? We can find officials for you to talk to!

Do I need a motorcycle?

Only if you would like to be a Motoref! Motorefs are required to take an additional day of training and an MVR check, but this is not a requirement to become a USA Cycling Official!

And I get paid?

Yes! You get paid for every event.
